A BRYAN OVATION.

One of the Greatest That Ever Transpired at Any of the Notable Events.

PARKER COUNTER DEMONSTRATION

The Convention Adopted Reports of Committee on Rules, Credentials and Permanent Organization.

The Sub-Committee of the Committee On Resolutions Made its Report—The Platform Submitted is Quite Lengthy.

St. Louis, July 8.—The democratic national convention Thursday adopted the report of the committee on rules, credentials and permanent organization. The session opened at 10 o'clock, an hour later took a recess until 2 p. m., and adjourned at 6:20 until 10 o'clock Friday. During the day several speeches were made, chief of which was William Jennings Bryan's effort to overthrow the report of the credentials committee and seat contesting delegates from Illinois. The controversy was ended by the rejection of the minority report of the committee by a vote of 647 nays to 299 ayes. Though Mr. Bryan's speech and his appearance on the floor of the convention was cheered far beyond any previous demonstration, it made few votes. The alignment of delegates proved the correctness of previous estimates of the division between those who favor the radicals and those who are supporting the conservative element, which is now in control.

Permanent Organization.

When the result of the contest was announced the report of the committee on permanent organization was made. Representative Champ Clark, who was chosen permanent chairman, addressed the convention. He had prepared and furnished to the press a speech of great length. The hour was so late when he gained the platform, however, he spoke about 300 words and left his audience to read the remainder.

The ovation given to Mr. Bryan was one of the greatest ever transpiring at any of the notable events for which the immense Coliseum is famed. It was begun before the afternoon session of the convention had been called to order and continued for 12 minutes with so much furore that Temporary Chairman Williams and all of his assistants, including a hundred policemen, were unable to restore order.

PARKER FORCES.

They Turned the Bryan Tide By a Counter Demonstration.

Quiet came from the convention only after the Parker forces joined in and by persistent efforts turned the tide by a counter demonstration for the New Yorker, so that the favorite candidate for the nomination for president finally reaped the harvest of enthusiasm sown for Mr. Bryan.

The inconsistencies of a great unorganized body, such as is formed by the spectators, delegates and alternates making up a great political convention, was appropriately illustrated in Thursday's gathering. Thousands of throats cheered Bryan as lustily as they did when he was chosen eight years ago as the democratic candidate for president. The great tumult to the initiated would have been proof positive that the Nebraskan, more than ever, was the hero of his part. And yet, when a banner bearing the inscription "Georgia's Parker Delegation," was taken to the platform and held aloft where all could see, the applause was directed that way. Without pausing in their enthusiasm the great throng of men and women shouting the name of Bryan switched to Parker as if their only ambition was to cheer and make a great noise.

Test Vote Favored Parker.

The vote Thursday in the Illinois case was the test and favorable to Parker. There were 946 votes cast of the 1,000 votes in the convention, the 54 of Illinois being withheld. The negative vote on Mr. Bryan's minority report was 647, which is 20 votes short of the necessary two-thirds to nominate. It represented with some exceptions the Parker strength, although it had in it also some of the opposition including the 32 votes of Massachusetts. At the same time there were cast on the other side 18 votes of South Carolina and 26 votes of Kentucky and the 18 votes of Louisiana, making a total of 62 votes from states that have declared for Parker. Deducting the 32 votes of Massachusetts and adding the 62 votes of the Parker states gives a total of 677 votes, which may be classed as Parker and with some exceptions from the smaller states which did not vote Parker or anti-Parker on the contested cases.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Entire Day Spent in Perfecting the Details.

The sub-committee of the committee on resolutions spent the entire day until 6 o'clock in perfecting the details of the democratic platform, concluding at that hour with the adoption of a gold standard plank. The plank was voted in during the absence of Mr. Bryan and Congressman Williams, and the ballot stood 7 to 3, the affirmative votes being cast by Messrs. Daniel, Hill, Pattison, Hamlin, Cable, Poe and Davis, and the negative votes by Messrs. Dubois, Shively and Newlands. The understanding was that if Messrs. Bryan and Williams had been present they would have cast their votes in the negative, thus bringing the opposition vote to five. As agreed upon by the sub-committee the text of the platform follows:

The Platform.

We, the delegates of the democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, declare our devotion to the essential principles of the democratic faith which bring us together in party communion.

Under these local self-government and national unity and prosperity were like established. They underlaid our independence, the structure of our free republic, and every democratic extension, from Louisiana to California, and Texas to Oregon, which preserves faithfully in all the states the tie between taxation and representation. They yet inspire the masses of our people, guarding jealously their rights and liberties, and cherishing their fraternity, peace and orderly development. They remind us of our duties and responsibilities as citizens of, and impress upon us, particularly at this time, the necessity of reform and the rescue of the administration of government from the headstrong, arbitrary and spasmodic methods which distract business and uncertainty and pervade the public mind with dread, distrust and perturbation.

The application of these fundamental principles to the living issues of the day constitutes the first step toward the assured peace, safety and progress of our nation. Freedom of the press, of conscience and of speech; equality before the law of all citizens; the right of trial by jury; freedom of the person defended by the writ of habeas corpus; liberty of personal contract, untrammelled by summary laws; the supremacy of the civil over the military authority; a well disciplined militia; the separation of church and state; economy in expenditures; low taxes, that labor may be lightly burdened; the prompt and sacred fulfillment of public and private obligations; fidelity to treaties; peace and friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none; absolute acquiescence in the will of the majority, the vital principle of republics—these are doctrines which democracy has established as provable of the nation, and they should be constantly invoked, preached and resorted to and enforced.

1.—Large reductions can readily be made in the annual expenditures of the government, without impairing the efficiency of any branch of the public service, and we shall insist upon the strictest economy and frugality compatible with glorious and efficient, civil, military and naval administration as a right of the people too clear to be denied or withheld.

cure has edited what may once have been infant industries to become the greatest combinations of capital that the world has ever known. These publicly favored enterprises have, through trust methods, been converted into monopolies, thus bringing to an end domestic competition which was the only check upon the extravagant profits made possible by the protective system. These industrial combinations, by the financial assistance they can give now, control the policy of the republican party. We favor a wise, conservative and business-like revision, and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses, and for the commonwealth, and not by the friends of its abuse, its extortions and its discriminations, keeping in view the ultimate end of "equality of burdens and equality of opportunities," and the constitutional purpose of raising a revenue by taxation, to wit, the support of the Federal government in all its integrity and virility, but in simplicity; and keeping also in view, as men of common sense should, existing conditions, however wrongfully, mistakenly or unjustly brought about, and the danger to the cause of tariff reform, from corrupt and revolutionary reversal of policy.

We should bear in mind, in short, those two things: First, the general principle that the sole derivation and power of taxation is the support of the Federal government, economically, effectively and constitutionally administered; and, second, the equal truth that in the assertion of any general principle and in reaching any ultimate end, however sacred and logically unavoidable, due regard, but only due regard, must and should be paid to actually existing conditions.

5.—We favor the reduction of tariff taxation upon trust-produced articles to the point where foreign competition may enter the American market whenever trusts and combines, seeking monopoly, raise their prices to the American consumer above a reasonable and just profit; by such reduction depriving trusts and monopolies of the power to extort from the American people, under shelter of American law, prices higher than those charged foreigners for identical articles.

The discoveries of gold within the past few years and the great increases in the production thereof, adding two thousand million dollars to the world's supply, of which seven hundred million falls to the share of the United States, has contributed to the maintenance of a money standard of value, no longer to be questioned, removing that issue from the field of political contention.

Our party having long and earnestly advocated the construction of an inter-oceanic canal for the purposes of national defense and commerce between the states, and with foreign nations, we favor the early completion of the isthmian canal.

But while making the declaration and accepting the results as an accomplished and irreversible fact, we can not too forcibly express our disapproval of the methods by which, in disregard of the usages and obligations of international law and treaty obligations, the canal route has been acquired, or too solemnly record our hope that this precedent of defiant diplomacy may never be used against us to our humiliation and injury.

We recognize that the gigantic trusts and combinations designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint product of capital and labor, and which have been fostered and promoted under republican rule, are a menace to beneficial competition, and an obstacle to permanent business prosperity.

We demand the vigorous and impartial enforcement of the laws already made to prevent and control such trusts and combinations, and we favor such further legislation in restraint thereof, as experience shows to be necessary.

Corporations chartered by authority of the people must forever remain subject to regulation in the interest of the people.

A private monopoly is indefensible and and labor ought not to be enemies. Each has its rights, but the rights of labor are certainly no less "vested," no less "sacred," and no less "inalienable" than the rights of capital.

We pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and lawful protection of our citizens at home and abroad, and to use all proper measures to secure for them, whether native born or naturalized, and without distinction of race or creed, the equal protection of laws and the enjoyment of all rights and privileges open to them under the covenants of our treaties of friendship and commerce; and, if under existing conditions the right of travel and sojourn is denied to American citizens or recognition is withheld from American passports by any countries on the ground of race or creed, we favor the beginning of negotiations with the governments of such countries to secure, by new treaties, the removal of these unjust discriminations.

The democracy would secure to the surviving soldiers and sailors and their dependents, generous pensions, not by an arbitrary executive order, but by legislation which a grateful people stand ready to enact.

Our soldiers and sailors, who defend with their lives the constitution and the laws, have a sacred interest in their just administration. They must, therefore, share with us the humiliation with which we have witnessed the exaltation of court favorites, without distinguished service, over the scarred heroes of many battles, or aggrandized by executive appropriations out of the treasures of a prostrate people, in violation of the act of congress which it fixes the compensation and allowances of the military officers.

We denounce the ship subsidy bill, recently passed by the United States Senate, as an iniquitous appropriation of public funds for private purposes and a wasteful, illogical and useless attempt to overcome by subsidy, to the obstructions raised by republican legislation, to the growth and development of American commerce on the sea.

We favor the upbuilding of a merchant marine, without new or additional burdens upon the people, and without bounties from the public treasury.

The democratic party stands committed to the principles of civil service reform, and we demand their honest, just and impartial enforcement.

We denounce the republican party for its continuous and sinister encroachment upon the spirit and operation of civil service rules, whereby it has arbitrarily dispensed with examinations for office in the interest of favorites, and employed all manner of device to over-reach and set aside the principles upon which the civil service was established.

We demand the extermination of polygamy within the jurisdiction of the United States, and the complete separation of church and state in political affairs.

We congratulate our western citizens upon the passage of the measure known as the Newlands Irrigation act for the reclamation and reclamation of the arid lands of the west. A consensus framed by the democratic party in the senate by a non-partisan vote and passed in the house against the opposition of almost all the republicans leads by vote, the majority of which, was democratic. We call attention to this great democratic measure, broad and comprehensive as it is, working automatically throughout all time without further action of congress, until the reclamation of all the lands in the arid west capable of reclamation is accomplished, reserving the lands reclaimed for homesteaders in small tracts, and rigidly guarding against land monopolies, as an evidence of the policy of domestic development contemplated by the democratic party, should it be placed in power.

We favor the preservation, in so far as we can, of an open door for the world's commerce in the orient, without unnecessary entanglement in oriental and European affairs, and without arbitrary, unlimited, irresponsible and absolute government anywhere within our jurisdiction. We oppose, as fervently as did George Washington himself, an indefinite, irresponsible, discretionary and vague absolutism and a policy of colonial exploitation, no matter where or by whom invoked or exercised; we believe, with Jefferson and John Adams, that no party has a right of laws for those at home, and another and a different set of laws, absolute in their character, for those "in the colonies." All men under the American flag are entitled to the protection of the institutions whose emblem the flag is; if they are inherently unfit for these institutions, then they are inherently unfit to be members of the American body politic. Wherever there may exist a people incapable of being governed under American institutions, in accordance with the American constitution, the territory of that people ought not to be part of the American domain.

We insist that we ought to do for the Philippines what we have already done for the Cubans. And it is our intent, as soon as it can be done, to withdraw our troops from the Philippines themselves and after amicable arrangements with them concerning naval stations, coaling stations and trade relations, and upon suitable guarantees of protection to all national and international interests, to set the Filipino people on their feet free and independent to work out their own destiny.

The endeavor of the secretary of war, by pledging the government's endorsement for "promoters" in the Philippine Islands to make the United States a part in the speculative exploitation of the archipelago, which was only temporarily held up by the opposition of democratic senators in the last session, will, if successful, lead to a permanent entanglement from which would be difficult to escape.

We favor statehood for Oklahoma and the Indian territory, statehood for Arizona, statehood for New Mexico, and a territorial government for Porto Rico.

We favor the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

THE GOLD PLANK.

There Was a Contest Over it in the Full Committee.

The platform was presented to the full committee at 8 o'clock Thursday night, and the contest over the gold plank which had occurred in the sub-committee was soon renewed and with cumulative force.

The day was given up by the sub-committee to the consideration of the details connected with the consideration of the various planks, action on the most important of them being postponed until the closing hours of the sitting. The taking up of the financial plank precipitated a sharp debate in which most of the members participated. Senator Dubois opposed it most vigorously. He admitted that the increase in the production of gold had had the effect of creating a sufficient supply of money for the present needs, but said that the output of the precious metals is so irregular as to render it most uncertain, and argued that while the present supply may be sufficient to meet the wants of the world, it can not be relied upon permanently.

He was replied to by Senators Daniel and Hill, who contended that the plank prevented recognition of the quantitative theory of money advocated by the democratic party and from this point drew the conclusion that the declaration is not inconsistent with former pronouncements on the subject.

Other Important Planks.

The anti-trust, tariff and other important planks were earnestly debated and liberally amended, but, as perfected, they were generally satisfactory to all the members of the sub-committee.

After considerable discussion the full committee adopted Bryan's tariff plank in lieu of the declaration submitted by the sub-committee. It is said not to differ materially from the latter.

The Bryan plank is shorter and more direct than that of the sub-committee. It declares in effect that all tariff for protection is robbery and advocates a gradual reduction along lines that will not disturb business interests.

JAPANESE MASSING.

They Occupy the Second Range of Hills Around Port Arthur.

Che Foo, July 8.—In the fighting which occurred on July 4 for the possession of one of the hills northeast of Port Arthur, the Russians lost, according to Chinese, 100 men killed and 50 wounded.

The Japanese having occupied the second range of hills around Port Arthur, are now massing men to march upon the Russian marine camp that commands the principal pass through the hills, which is directly back of Port Arthur. This camp is considered vital to the safety of the fortress, and it is guarded, according to the Chinese, by 20,000 marines and sailors. In the Chinese-Japanese war the Japanese occupied this camp for seven days before they took possession of Port Arthur.

FLOOD AT WICHITA.

The Most Serious in the History of the City.

Wichita, Kan., July 8.—Wichita Thursday experienced the most serious flood in the history of the city, the result of the overflow of the Arkansas river. Even the flood of 1877, to which all residents have pointed, is said to have been surpassed by the volume of water that has swept and is still sweeping over the city. All the northwestern part of Wichita is under water. Three hundred houses are surrounded, the water in many instances reaching the second story windows. The little Arkansas broke over its banks into Riverside Park Wednesday night.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress,
JAMES N. KIRK OF MASON.

THE Republican National convention is said to have cost $60,000. That was a reckless waste of money, as President Roosevelt selected the ticket, and dictated the platform.

NO RIGHT TO KICK—THEY VOTE THIS WAY.

The artisans and workingmen of the country are fast discovering that the protective tariff does not protect them from wage reductions, and in many cases from no work at all. This seems to be especially true in that hotbed of protection, the State of Pennsylvania, for the Public Ledger—good Republican authority—recently announced that:

"With thousands out of employment by an almost total stagnation in the industry and in the looms of a large number of mills working on half and three-quarters time, worsted yarn spinners in this city propose to combine to cut down the operatives' wages to the basis of those paid in New England for similar work. This means a reduction of 15 per cent. in the earnings of 20,000 spinners."

Besides the worsted operatives above mentioned, it is reported that 60,000 other textile workers are idle, all working in protected industries. Worsteds yarn is protected by a tariff duty of 30 or 40 cents a pound, according to quality, and an additional duty of 40 per cent ad valorem. This enormous protection of course prevents the importation of foreign yarns, except a small amount of Saxony wool, especially prepared for ladies to knit with, so the home market is preserved for the wool yarn manufacturers, and the profits are very large, there being no competition. Yet this protection has resulted in "an almost complete stagnation of the industry," with no work for many of the operatives and a reduction of wages even to those working on half time.

That is the terrible condition to which these poor, deluded disciples of protection have been brought in one of the highest protected industries, and the condition has existed for some time. It must also be remembered that the cost of living has vastly advanced under this protective tariff system, so that even those workingmen who are fully employed and who have been fortunate enough not to have their wages reduced have all they can do to make both ends meet.

The White Collar Line boats will carry the war into the Cincinnati-Pittsburg Company's own territory. The Indiana will be entered in the Pittsburg trade while the Bonanza and probably the New South will also be placed in the same trade. The Tacoma and Henry M. Stanley will continue in the Pomeroy trade and the White Collar Line people are in the fight to stay. They will place several new boats in commission with the opening of the fall season.

Not for one day only, but for every day of the year, our prices are absolutely "the lowest." To make this store the regular-every-day thoroughly dependable shopping headquarters is our constant and determined effort, and it cannot be "thoroughly dependable" as a supply center unless prices are right. The term "guaranteed" has been so abused that it has been deprived of some of its dictionary meaning. There being no word to take its place we keep pegging away at it, restoring it to its Websterian status "absolute satisfaction or your money back." Notice our windows. Prices plainly marked. We show a large line of Serge Coats, Nobby Coat and Trousers, Straw Hats, Belts, Underwear, Half-Hose and the new Kool-o-Suspenders.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES.

Elegant Reception Given Thursday Evening by Mrs. E. N. Forsythe in Honor of Miss Gibson.

Mrs. Ernest Neville Forsythe's reception yesterday evening in honor of Miss Sallie Gibson was the happiest kind of an affair. The Forsythes have recently taken the home of Mr. George Cox for a number of months, a home well adapted for entertaining, and one where many delightful affairs have been enjoyed by their friends. At no time has it been the scene of more genuine hospitality than last evening when it was open to Mrs. Forsythe's friends who were invited to meet Miss Gibson.

The reception line composed of the following women stood in the drawing room: Mesdames J. W. Forsythe, William Hall, Misses Potts, Hunt and Gibson. A lavish decoration of green mingled with white blossoms was profusely used in this room—a filmy curtain—a flag of ferns and rose petals caught back by smilax, revealing the room next in order which resembled an old-fashioned garden where holly-hocks have their own way and grow to their heart's content. One corner of this room was especially stunning where the holly-hocks gave way to a luxuriant growth of trumpet vine heavily laden with bloom.

It was profuse, climbing over a high case and reaching the ceiling, making a warm, rich background for the dusky face of an Indian head—a fine cast in terra cotta, whose stern bronze features blended perfectly with the richness about it.

The dining-room with its centre-table candle-light, cool and fragrant with sweet peas, took on the tints of a rainbow, with its decoration in shades, flowers and the collation itself, all in the variety of colors only found in these many-tinted blossoms.

Mrs. Millard Merz, Miss Mary Noyes, the Misses Rogers, and Mrs. Jennie Clarke did the honors in the dining room, while Misses Elizabeth Barbour, Eda Biggers and Mary Power, a trio of youthfulness, charmingly presided over the punch bowl.

It is thought the fire caught from a defective flue. The house had been recently newly furnished, and much of the furniture and other household goods were destroyed. The loss is about $2,500, with only $1,000 insurance, the policy being in the Farmers' Mutual Aid of Mason County.

The family has the sympathy of their many friends in their misfortune.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

Police Judge John J. Riley Announced a Startling Innovation.

Lexington, Ky., July 8.—Police Judge John J. Riley, who recently attained notoriety by the re-establishment of the whipping post, announced another startling innovation in criminal procedure Thursday which promises to diminish the number of drunks presented in his court hereafter.

Those charged with being drunk will be given the alternative of taking an emetic, consisting of a glassful of fishbrine or going to jail. One victim took the emetic Thursday and it worked. When small boys are convicted he suspends a long workhouse sentence on condition that the parent inflict a whipping on the culprit in the public square.

Several colored boys have been whipped. Drastic measures, which he recently adopted, ran all the vagrants out of town.

Surrounding towns are beginning to adopt the same measures.

SCHOOL BOOK LAW.

It Will Be Tested Anent Cities of the Second Class.

Lexington, Ky., July 8.—The board of education Thursday night, by unanimous vote, decided to test the school book law adopted by the last general assembly in regard to its application to cities of the second class. This action was based upon a written report from Attorney S. M. Willson to the effect that a city of the second class had an exclusive jurisdiction over its own text books. The co-operation of other cities of the second class will be asked for a written opinion from the attorney general. In case the latter is unfavorable the matter will be taken to the courts for adjudication.

WAR ON AUTOMOBILES.

Turnpike Company Will Charge According to Horse Power.

Cold Spring, Ky., July 8.—The board of the Campbell County Turnpike Co., in an endeavor to keep its pike clear of automobiles, has raised the toll, which is now charged according to horse power. As most of the autos are eight or ten horse power, the toll from Newport to Alexandria and return is from $2 to $2.50. Formerly it was only 50 cents, the same as a horse and wagon. It is claimed the big machines keep travel off the road, as many women who formerly enjoyed evening rides do not do so for fear of accidents.

Mrs. May Pardoned.

Frankfort, Ky., July 8.—Mrs. Nancy May, of Leslie county, arrived at the state penitentiary Thursday morning to take up a ten-year sentence for murdering a young woman whom she accused of intimacy with her husband. Acting Gov. Thorne interfered and pardoned her, she having her three-months-old child in her arms.
